

philippine studies

Ateneo de Manila University • Loyola Heights, Quezon City • 1108 Philippines

---

Contributors

Philippine Studies vol. 55, no. 1 (2007): 152–153

Copyright © Ateneo de Manila University

---

Philippine Studies is published by the Ateneo de Manila University. Contents may not be copied or sent via email or other means to multiple sites and posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's written permission. Users may download and print articles for individual, noncommercial use only. However, unless prior permission has been obtained, you may not download an entire issue of a journal, or download multiple copies of articles.

Please contact the publisher for any further use of this work at philstudies@admu.edu.ph.

<http://www.philippinestudies.net>

Contributors

JAMES N. ANDERSON is professor emeritus, Department of Anthropology, University of California at Berkeley, 232 Kroeber Hall, Berkeley, CA 94720-3710, USA. He has conducted longitudinal research in a large barangay in Pangasinan since 1960, publishing on a variety of topics including land tenure, economy, demography and social change, life strategies, rural development, human ecology, natural resource management, traditional house gardens, internal and international migration, and the Filipino diaspora in Japan.

VICTORIA B. ANDERSON is assistant professor, Department of Linguistics, University of Hawaii at Manoa, 569 Moore Hall, 1890 East-West Road, Honolulu, HI 96822, USA. She obtained her Ph.D. from UCLA. Her research interests include the phonetics, phonology, and sociolinguistics of Pacific languages, especially those that are endangered.

JOSE AMIEL ANGELES is a graduate student at the University of Oregon History Department, 275 McKenzie Hall, 1101 Kincaid Street, Eugene, OR 97403-1288, USA. He received his BA and MA degrees in History from the Ateneo de Manila University, where he also taught history for three years, from 2003 to 2006, before pursuing graduate studies. His dissertation focuses on the military aspect of the Philippine Revolution.

MARYA SVETLANA T. CAMACHO is assistant professor, Department of History, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Asia and the Pacific, Pearl Drive, Ortigas Center, Pasig City, 1605 Philippines. She attained her Ph.D. degree in History from the University of Navarra, Spain. Her research interest is in the comparative history of women and education in the Spanish Philippines and Spanish America.

RUPERT HODDER is reader in Human Geography, Department of Geography, University of Plymouth, Drake Circus, Plymouth PL4 8AA, United Kingdom. He obtained his first degree from the University of Sussex, his MPhil from the University of Hong Kong, and his PhD from the University of Leeds. His research interests focus on the political economy and society of East and South-east Asia, with particular reference to China and the Philippines.