

Contributors

JOSE S. ARCILLA, S.J. is the archivist of the Philippine Jesuit Province, and associate professor in the History Department, Ateneo de Manila University.

SUSAN EVANGELISTA is director of the Interdisciplinary Studies Program and professor in the English Department, Ateneo de Manila University.

GRANT K. GOODMAN is professor in the History Department, University of Kansas. He has written extensively on Japanese prewar activities and wartime occupation of the Philippines.

VITALIANO R. GOROSPE, S.J. is professor of ethics and moral theology, Ateneo de Manila University. He has written and lectured widely on Philippine national issues and Filipino values, and on moral and social questions.

RENE JAVELLANA, S.J. teaches theology and Philippine Arts at the Ateneo de Manila. His forthcoming book is Casaysayan Nang Pasiong Mahal: Critical Text and Commentary.

ALFREDO G. PARPAN, S.J. introduced Southeast Asian Studies at the Ateneo de Naga even before the birth of the ASEAN. He has followed the progress of the Philippine claim on North Borneo since the Free Press articles of the sixties.

CARIDAD ALDECOA RODRIGUEZ is professor of History at Silliman University, Dumaguete City. She is at present a Toyota Foundation grantee doing research on "Negros Oriental from American Rule to the Present."

LUCIANO P.R. SANTIAGO is a psychiatrist in private practice at Medical City General Hospital. He has published articles in psychiatry and Philippine history.