

Contributors

JOSE S. ARCILLA, S.J. is the archivist of the Philippine Jesuit Province. He is chairman and professor in the History Department, Ateneo de Manila University.

MICHAEL S. BILLIG is assistant professor of Anthropology and Asian Studies at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He received his Ph.D. in Anthropology from Harvard University. His main research interest is Philippine political economy, and he is writing a book on economic diversification in Negros Occidental.

VITALIANO R. GOROSPE, S.J. is professor of ethics and moral theology, Ateneo de Manila University. He has written and lectured widely on Philippine national issues and Filipino values, and on moral and social questions.

JAIME AN LIM holds his Ph.D. in Comparative Literature from Indiana University. He is currently professor of English at Mindanao State University.

CHARLES MACDONALD is affiliated with Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique (CNRS) in Paris. His major field of research and study is Comparative Southeast Asian Mythology. He is the author of L'eloignement du Ciel.

NIELS MULDER is research fellow (Southeast Asian Studies) of the Sociology of Development Research Centre, University of Bielefeld, Germany. His scholarly writings concern the cultural analysis of Javanese, Thai and Tagalog-Filipino societies.

ANTOON POSTMA is an anthropologist and ethnographer on the Mangyan culture in Mindoro, and made special studies on Austronesian linguistics and Indo-Philippine epigraphy/paleography. He is the head of the Mangyan Assistance and Research Center (MARC) at Mansalay, Oriental Mindoro.

BENJAMIN T. TOLOSA, JR., assistant editor of Philippine Studies, is director of the Development Studies Program and an assistant professor in the Department of Economics, Ateneo de Manila University. He obtained his M.A. in Development Studies at the University of East Anglia.