

Contributors

RICARDO G. ABAD is a fellow and board member of Social Weather Stations, Inc. He is also a professor of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Ateneo de Manila University, where he holds the Frank X. Lynch, S.J. professorial chair.

ANDREA LEE ESSER is working on a research project under a Fulbright scholarship on gender and natural resource management in a mixed economy in Bicol.

REGINA GARCIA-GROYON teaches at the University of St. La Salle, where she was awarded the Mariano Ramos Chair for the Humanities and undertook a research study on works of five poets from Negros Occidental.

FLORENTINO H. HORNEDO, associate editor of this review, is a professor in Ateneo de Manila University's Department of Filipino. He obtained his Ph.D. in Literature and pursued doctoral studies in history at the University of Santo Tomas.

WILLY LIM LAOHOO is Information Service Bureau chief, Philippine-China Development Resource Center.

ILKA BAILEY-WIEBECKE is the editor of the FORUM. She has had a longstanding experience in human rights with the United Nations Center for Human Rights and the International Commission of Jurists in Geneva.

YOKO YOSHIKAWA, professor and chairman in the Faculty of Foreign Relations, Kyoto Sangyo University, holds an M.A. from the University of Chicago. In 1991, she was awarded The Masayoshi Ohira Memorial Prize for her book The Japan-Philippine Reparations, 1949-1956.